Background

On Wednesday 23 March 2022, Universities Australia released results of an independent national survey entitled the National Student Safety Survey (NSSS). Conducted by the Social Research Centre, the NSSS investigated the prevalence of sexual harassment and sexual assault in Universities across Australia. The first Student Safety and Wellbeing Plan (2022-2023) provided a clear set of initiatives, activities and actions to be undertaken by The Australian National University (ANU), this plan has now been fully implemented.

ANU is committed to ensuring the University's study and work environments, both in person and online are safe, respectful and inclusive. To support this a second Student Safety and Wellbeing Plan (2024-2026) has been developed. The health and wellbeing of our cohorts is at the forefront of our work, and this plan works to address how ANU will support our students. This Plan aligns to the timeframe the Sexual Violence Prevention Strategy (SVPS). It is acknowledged that we must continue to do better in the complex space that is gendered violence prevention and response. This next iteration of the Student Safety and Wellbeing Plan will broaden our prevention and response for all harmful behaviours. This will be achieved through further strengthening our policies, raising awareness, offering broader support services and making education and training on these topics readily available.

Student Safety and Wellbeing Steering Group

The Student Safety and Wellbeing Steering Group has been established to support the implementation of the Student Safety and Wellbeing Plan (2022-2023) and the ANU Sexual Violence Prevention Strategy (2019-2026) (SVPS).

The Steering Group membership was reviewed in June 2024, and the revised Terms of Reference are published along with this Plan.

With the 2022-2023 Plan now complete, the Steering Group will implement the 2024-2026 Student Safety and Wellbeing Plan. This Plan will be underpinned by the ANU Student Safety and Wellbeing Framework (fig 1) with a broader focus on a range of safety and wellbeing initiatives, under the six streams of work identified below.

Principles

- Whole of institution approach to support student wellbeing using a public health and intersectional approach;
- Co-design and innovative approaches to harness the student voice and engagement;
- Embedded evaluation process to measure impact of activities;
- Commitment to transparency in reporting status and evaluation of actions; and
- Increase visibility of supports to students and staff.

Strategic Enablers

ANU is committed to the safety and wellbeing of our community, as well as to actively building a more inclusive culture where students and staff are supported to reach their full potential in their studies, work and student experience.

Safety, wellbeing, inclusion, equity, and diversity are embedded in several strategic documents which will support the implementation and activities of the Student Safety and Wellbeing Plan 2024–2026 including:

- Sexual Violence Prevention Strategy;
- Mental Health and Wellbeing Strategy 2024–2029 (to be released);
- Disability Action Plan;
- Anti-Racism Report;
- Learning and Teaching Strategy;
- Active ANU Strategy (in development); and
- Digital Master Plan.

Many of the actions included in the Student Safety and Wellbeing Plan are aimed to address whole of institution needs, but we acknowledge that the specific needs of Higher Degree by Research students will also be addressed through the HDR Wellbeing report and actions included in that document.

Streams of Work

STREAM 1	Basic Needs: Identify and support students with financial challenges that lead to issues such as food and housing insecurity, through expanding programs and initiatives that provide access to basic needs.
STREAM 2	Student Safety: Continue to enhance our practices in the prevention of gender-based violence, and response to disclosures of sexual assault and sexual harassment and other harmful behaviours.
STREAM 3	Community Belonging and Engagement: Develop a Student Equity Strategy to further support and grow our diverse community.
STREAM 4	Training and Support for Staff: Expand the current offering of training for staff in support of promoting student wellbeing, responding to disclosures of harmful behaviours and students in distress.
STREAM 5	Health and Wellbeing Literacy: Develop a health and wellbeing education program for students including topics such as alcohol and other substances, sexual health, healthy sleep and managing stress.
STREAM 6	Trust and Perception: Develop a mechanism to appropriately evaluate, measure and communicate the impact of the work being undertaken, and its impacts on trust in the service and program offerings.

Action Plan

Stream 1: Basic needs
